AN IMPORTANT CIRCULAR.

Action and Co-Operation on the Prairie Fire Question Asked for.

A meeting of the Board of Trade was held in the Clerk's office yesterday evening. There were present President Pole and Messrs. Corbin, Sunington, Cass and Lang. The following circular was read and the Secretary instructed to have copies printed and circulated:

The Moose Jaw Board of Trade desires to place itself in communication with other Boards of Trade and Municipal Councils and Agricultural Societies throughout the Northwest Territories for the purpose of getting their views regarding the following matters and if possible securing united and energetic action thereon.

To this board it appears, as it has for years appeared, but with an ever deepening conviction, that prairie fires are the scourge of this great western country; and that they have retarded and are retarding its progress and prosperity more than all other causes combined, not inconsiderable though the effect of these may be. The great stretch of country to the South, West and North—for a considerable distance at least—of this district is valuable only or chiefly for its grazing qualities; but in 1882 these were excellent lands for that purpose. Continual and extensive prairie fires have, however, almost entirely destroyed this vast stretch of country for all purposes; have over large tracts of it completely, and have over the whole of it greatly, burnt off the vegetable mould which was their thereon—the grass producing soil; and if these fires are allowed to continue raging, this whole stretch of country will soon be utterly useless. The whole of the vegetable mould will soon be burnt off, leaving nothing but the underlying sand and gravel, thereby depleting the wealth of this country to an extent which no one would believe who had not been through that country in 1882 and decreasing the rainfall there would otherwise be and causing destructive hot winds.

For this board entertains no question that these extensive fires have decreased and are decreasing the annual rainfall throughout this country as they lessen the quantity of moisture on the prairies and consequently the evaporation that would be taking place. And it has as little doubt that they very largely contribute to the cause of hot winds which have so frequently and disastrously been sweeping over these prairies. These hot winds have been more or less experienced every year with more or less injurious consequences to the growing crops except during 1882-84-88-91; and while they were being so experienced, these extensive fires have invariably been raging. Has this been a mere coincidence or has there been in this case the relation between cause and effect? To this board it does not seem at all difficult to understand that there is an intimate connection between such fires and these hot winds; that such fires raging over large areas, burning grass and vegetable mould, would when the temperature would otherwise be high, greatly increase the volume of the wind and must augment its heat.

These fires are variously caused. Largely, there is no doubt, by engines on the lines of railway; but not unfrequently from the carelessness of travellers and settlers.

In the past no proper effort has in the opinion of this board, been made to cause these fires to cease. This is confessedly a difficult matter to cope with; but this board believes that much can be done to minimize them. It suggests the following for consideration:

1 The requiring all railway companies operating railways throughout the Territories under sufficient and easily enforced penalties to annually make proper fireguards along each side of their line of railway, say before the 15th day of June. It is found that such guards, to be effective, must be made at least 250 feet from the line of railway and should be by a ploughed strip at least 10 feet in width.

2 The making by the Government of fireguards throughout this unsettled country.

3 The stationing of the members of the N. W. Mounted Police annually while the snow is off the ground in each year, in small detachments at convenient distances from each other along the leading trails throughout this unsettled country under proper orders to keep the surrounding country scoured to as far as that is possible put down such fires as may occur, to arrest and bring to justice those whom they suspect to be concerned in the starting of these fires and generally to do what is possible in enforcing the laws regarding these fires.

The members of this Board regard the minimum penalty in the prairie fire ordinance—the highest that is usually imposed—as altogether inadequate to deter from an infraction of the Ordinance and as causing the belief that the offence is a trivial one, and in its opinion it should be greatly increased.

This Board makes these suggestions in hope that the question herein raised will be at once earnestly considered by other Boards, Municipal Councils, Agricultural Societies, etc., and that the results of such deliberations may be at as early a date as possible returned to this Board so that there may be united and energetic action regarding this, the scourge of this western country.

W. W. BOLE, SEYMOUR GREEN, President. Secretary.

A WASTE OF WATERS.

Terrible Floods in the Mountains—Great Loss to the C. P. R.—Death and Devastation.

During the last ten days the floods in the mountains have been growing worse and worse, and there is yet no sign of abatement. The waters are still rising as the warm weather melts the snow on the mountains. Bridges, trestles, tunnels and track along the C.P.R. line have been washed away at a terrible rate and the company has over 3,000 men at points of danger.

From Revelstoke to the sea is 380 miles of railway, and it is now a watery waste. The last point above Vancouver which can now be reached is Ruby Creek, 82 miles distant, thence all is water. Macqui, Mission, Chilliwhack, Hatzie and Langley, the prairies and towns of Harrison, Centre ville, are all under water, and not a farm building is left standing. Fully 10,000 cattle have perished.

THE CAUSE OF THE FLOOD. The snowfall of last winter was heavier than ever before in the history of the oldest mountaineer. The Siwash predicted that floods would certainly occur this spring, basing the prediction on the fact that in 1882 when the snowfall was heavy—though not so heavy as during the past winter—the greatest flood ever heretofore known had occurred.

Ninety-five miles of the Northern Pacific are under water.

WOMEN TAKE A HAND. At Chilliwhack and Mission City women donned rubber trousers and worked in eight hour shifts with men in removing household furniture to rafts and building temporary dams around Chilliwhack.

STILL RUNNING TRAINS. The Canadian Pacific Railway are running, at great expense, trains to connect with steamers so as to transfer passengers over the flooded districts.

AID FROM THE C. P. R. Sir William Van Horne has telegraphed to General Supt. Abbott: "Contribute $1000 towards relief of sufferers and let me know what outside help is required."

Summer Time Table.

WINNIPEG, June 6.—According to the C. P. R. summer time table, which will probably be put into effect on the 17th inst., the Pacific express will arrive here at 5:45 a.m., and leave at 7 a.m. The Atlantic express will arrive at 10:30 p.m., and will leave for Montreal half an hour later. The Pacific express will be cut off entirely on Wednesdays, and the Atlantic express on Thursdays east of Moose Jaw. Between Moose Jaw and Vancouver there will be a daily service, this being necessary to accommodate the "Boo" line traffic. The branch line trains will run on the same days as at present, and under the time table now in force. The western local train will only run to Virden instead of Moosomin as last year and will leave here at 6:45 p.m. and arrive at 12:45 p.m.

THE BUSHWACKER.

He stands at the door of a tumble-down log cabin, a long-barrelled rifle on his arm, and looks up and down the path which winds through the woods like the trail of a serpent. The rifle has been freshly cleaned and loaded. The man is ragged, long-haired and old. The lack of sleep and the heat of the sun have made his face as red as a tomato. His eyes have a dangerous gleam in them, but his face shows neither smile nor frown. It is steely—unreadable. Let him but close his eyes and the face would seem to be carved by some rough hand from flinty rock.

"Owies, Tom?"

It is a woman, who steps outdoors and utters the query. Her face is pale, her frame large and bony, and her eyes rove about and rest nowhere for more than two or three seconds at a time. She asks the question without interest or anxiety. He answers without seeming to be aware of her presence:

"Yes, reckon to go."

A child looking up into their faces would instantly shrink away. A physiognomist would stand aghast. An unfortunate wayfarer would look in vain for traces of pity, charity, or even mercy. Faces of stone—hearts of iron.

"Time to kill mo' of 'em!"

"Reckon to."

She sits down on a log, leans her elbows on her knees, and rested her chin on her hands and looked away into the woods. He dropped his rifle to the earth, crossed his hands on the muzzle, and looked away down the path toward the mountain road. The squirrels chattered in the trees about them, the wild bees buzzed in the June sunshine, and the drumming of a partridge sounded loudly from the hill behind the cabin, but neither man nor woman seemed to be alive. Ten long minutes passed away, and then the man raised his head, lifted up his rifle, and disappeared down the path without a word.

"Him's gone," she whispered, but without looking at eyes or moving her head.

Ten minutes later took the man to the junction of the path and the highway. He turned to the right, followed the road about twenty rods, and then turned himself in a road. That road was little used by hunters. Couriers and mail carriers who wanted to save distance came that way, and in the dark ravine at the bushwacker's shack two corpses were now lying disburied.

"That 'em!" growled the man, as three or four great buzzards came flying so close to him that their wings brushed the tops of the bushes; but after a moment he knelt down behind a tree, and the buzzards, startled by his rifle across it, and gave the buzzards no further attention. Five, ten, fifteen minutes passed away. There had been only three or four of the great birds at first; their numbers increased, and the man seemed to be thirty flying above him. Not one of them uttered a sound. There was a "whish" of wings as they circled about the thicket, but never a creak nor cry. It was a still hunt. The man waiting for the living—the buzzards seeking to locate the dead.

Clickety click! Clickety click! It is the hoof beats of a horse up the road—the sound of his iron shoes striking against the stony surface. The buzzards, startled by the sound, fly higher and break their circle, but the man settles down, and places his cheek against the rifle. It is a single horseman riding at alope. He comes nearer and nearer, and the buzzards pause in their flight to look down on him. Of a sudden flash of flame, a sharp report, a cry, and the horse gallops madly away.

"Not one mo' fur sah!" mutters the bushwacker as he drops his rifle and steps out to view the dead man and drag the body into the cover.

There is a rush of feet, a fierce yell, and he is surrounded by twenty soldiers, who cry out for his life. It is a detail who have been searching and watching, and they have him at last. He has no word to say, no cry, no fear. They tie his arms behind him and march him down the road to the path and up the path to his cabin. The woman sits there in the same position, except that her eyes are on the path and the body of men. She knows what has happened—what will happen.

"Tom's bin got!" she whispered, but she does not betray the slightest excitement. She does not even rise to her feet until the officers in command look her over and ask:

"Do you want to see him hang?"

"Reckon not."

"Then go!"

She is bareheaded and barefooted. She does not wear the usual dress of the bushwacker, but a simple, old-fashioned dress of blue cloth, and the man who has been searching and watching, and they have him at last. He has no word to say, no cry, no fear. They tie his arms behind him and march him down the road to the path and up the path to his cabin. My DEAR CHAMBERLAIN—I have been reading, but now will tell you about our pleasant trip. We went to see Geneva. There were Elizabeth, Helen, Whitney, Chester and myself. Elizabeth was a green morning, Helen was a brown one, and I was a black one. We got an early start. We went over a very rocky road. Geneva had been on the lookout for us. As you must know, Geneva is very rich, and her house was covered with Brussels carpet. She showed us a horse basket she made; also her lovely rose pot cow. We stayed over Sunday, and then came home. My friend, I must close. I fear we shall get a hurricane. Farewell.

A Work of Fiction.
A correspondent of London Notes and Queries, in 1854, made the following contribution:

The following account of this truly wonderful specimen of human patience and skill is from a rough copy that I took some years ago. I regret that I cannot give any reference, as I made no note of my authority, which has now escaped my recollection. But this is of little consequence, as the book is well known to bibliographers. Perhaps the most singular bibliographic curiosity is that which belonged to the family of the Prince of Ligne, and is now a French. It is entitled: "Labor Pœmonia Domini nostri Jesu Christi, Characteribus nulla materia composita." This book is neither written nor printed. The whole letters of the text are cut out of each folio upon the finest vellum; and as the vellum is of a blue paper, it is as easily as the best print. The labor and patience bestowed on its completion must have been excessive, especially when the precision and uniformity of the letters are considered. The general execution is every respect in its kind admirable, and the volume is of the most delicate and costly kind. Rodolphus (illegible) offered for it, in 1840, 11,000 francs, which was probably equal to $20,000 at that day. The most remarkable circumstance connected with this literary treasure is that it bears the royal arms of England; but it cannot be traced to have ever been in this country.

The faculty the character has of changing its color has been attributed to the protective instinct of the animal, by which it tends to render itself less observable by assuming the color of the food on which it lies.

The hump on the back of the dromedary is an accumulation of a peculiar species of fat, which is a sort of reserve food, and is provided against the day of want, to which the animal is often exposed. The dromedary or camel can exist for a long period upon this hump without any other food.

NOVELTIES IN SILVERWARE.

The shell of a clam represented in silver was a pretty thing to look at.

Fences, rails and ferns worked in repoussé on the back of a silver hand mirror have a pretty effect.

A silver gilt hand mirror of recent importation has an Italian mountain scene in it showing through a thick beveled glass on the back.

Two squirrels, each engaged in gnawing at a nut, with a plain bar running on their backs, make a silver knife rest that possesses many attractions.

Quite elaborate and handsome is a silver shaving rasp with a plain bright band encircling the top, and with the bottom chased to represent a wicker basket.

A silver napkin ring that is attracting much attention from those artistically inclined, represents a broken battle drum resting on a wreathed base.

A most effective silver punch dish represents the curved forehead of an ostrich. A one corner of the receptacle is of silver, and with a wreathed base is perfect.

A silver ashtray of the same design as the one above, makes a beautiful ashtray.

Some very handsome silver ink stands of various designs are being produced.

A useful and pretty article for the smoking table is a silver ashtray tray bearing three spirit lamps of dull finished metal. Resting on the surface of the tray is a line of music with the words, "It was my last cigar."

AFFLICTED FROM INFANCY.

A Lad who had been Deafblind from his Childhood Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills—the Remedy that Never Failed.

McINTYRE, Ont., June 4.—The young son of Hugh Lamont of this place has been afflicted with dropsy from infancy. He was bloated and swollen all over. His parents were at their wits end to find some cure for him when they read of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mr. Lamont got six boxes of the pills and the boy began taking them. Before the sixth box was finished he was cured. It doesn't matter whether the patient is young or old; the pills will effect a cure of any kidney disease or of any disease arising from disordered kidneys.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN NERVE TONIC

AND STOMACH AND LIVER CURE

The Wonderful HEALTH BUILDER & NERVE FOOD

Chronic Diseases are caused by Damaged Nerve Centres at base of the Brain.

LATE discoveries have absolutely proven that the Stomach, Liver, Lungs, and indeed all internal organs, are controlled by the nerve centres at the base of the brain. The manufacturer of SOUTH AMERICAN NERVE TONIC has studied this subject closely for more than twenty-five years, and has lately demonstrated that two-thirds of our Chronic Diseases, are due to the imperfect action of nerve centres, either within or at the base of the brain and not from a derangement of the organs themselves; hence that the ordinary methods of treatment are wrong.

As all know, a serious injury to the spinal cord, will at once cause Paralysis of the body below the injured part, it therefore will be equally well understood, how the derangements of the nerve centres, will cause the derangement of the different organs of the body which they supply with Nerve Fluid or Nerve Force.

The wonderful success of SOUTH AMERICAN NERVE TONIC is due alone to the fact that it is based on the foregoing principle. The use of a single bottle of this remedy will convince the most incredulous. It is indeed, a veritable Nerve Food and Will Relieve in One Day the varied forms of Nervous Disease and Stomach Troubles.

Nervous Diseases.

This class of diseases, is rapidly increasing each year, on account of the great wear our mode of living and labor imposes upon the nervous system. Nine-tenths of all the ailments to which the human family is heir, are dependent upon nervous exhaustion, impaired digestion, and a deteriorated and impoverished condition of the blood. The SOUTH AMERICAN NERVE TONIC is a great nerve food and nerve builder and its accounts for its marvelous power to cure the varied forms of nervous disease, such as Neurasthenia, Nervousness, Nervous Prostration, St. Vitus's Dance, Nervous Choking, Nervous Paroxysms, Twitching of the Muscles, Hot Flashes, Mental Despondency, Forgetfulness, Sleeplessness, Restlessness, Nervousness of Females, Palpitation of the Heart, Sexual Weakness, etc., etc.

A SWORN CURE FOR ST. VITUS'S DANCE.

My daughter, twelve years old, had been afflicted for several months with St. Vitus's Dance. She was reduced to a skeleton, could not walk, could not swallow anything but milk; I had to handle her like an infant. Doctors and neighbors gave her up. I commenced giving her the SOUTH AMERICAN NERVE TONIC, and the cure was very surprising. In three days she was rid of the nervousness, and rapidly improved. Four bottles cured her completely. I think the SOUTH AMERICAN NERVE TONIC the greatest remedy ever discovered, and would recommend it to everyone.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this May 19, 1897.

A WONDERFUL CURE FOR INDIGESTION AND DYSPEPSIA.

How

Is your soft water? An unpleasant feeling comes over you as you near the bottom of the barrel and think of washing yourself with hard water and ordinary toilet soap. You blow the curdy stuff back and say, "Oh dear, I wish it would rain!" Haven't you often done it?

Possess your soul in peace. There is no trouble washing with hard water if you use our HARD WATER SOAP. It produces a nice creamy lather and none of that curdy substance ever appears. 10 cents a cake; 25 cents a box of 3.

While talking of soap, why do you buy the common toilets known to the trade as "Grocery Toilets" when you can get fine milled soaps for the same money. Ask to see our soaps and be convinced.

Our Delegates Enjoy Themselves.

OTTAWA, June 4.—Messrs. T. B. Baker, general merchant, Moose Jaw, and Speaker Ross of the same place, were among those who accepted the invitation of Mr. J. C. Edwards, M.P., to spend Saturday with him at his home in Rockland. The party, numbering one hundred, left the Queen's wharf at 10 a.m. on Mr. Edwards' steamer "Ida." The run to Rockland was made in two hours. There, it was found that elaborate preparations had been made for their reception and entertainment, not the least imposing of which was the arrangements for luncheon. It was served in a large marquee erected on a portion of the grounds commanding a fine view of the country-side. The repast was in every respect in keeping with Mr. Edwards' reputation as a host, and the songs and speeches with which it concluded were of the most enjoyable order. On the right of the host sat Sir John Thompson, on his left Hon. Mr. Laurier and Hon. Mr. Costigan. Sir James Grant occupied the vice chair, and shared with Mr. Edwards the honor of proposing the toasts. The toasts of the Dominion Cabinet proposed by the host, was responded to by Sir John Thompson, Sir A. P. Caron and Hon. Mr. Costigan.

Messrs. Baker and Ross from the far west made capital speeches as did also N.E. Davin, M.P.

Row River Racing.

CALGARY, June 5.—The waters of the Row River in the Canmore section of the C.P.R. continue to rise and that stream is now a raging torrent. Yesterday four bridges were carried away and a big section of the track is under water and absolutely impassable. There is no possibility of a through train for probably eight or ten days although, no doubt, arrangements for the transfer of passengers across the flood will be made with all possible dispatch. The telegraph line is down for a considerable distance, the poles being swept away by the rushing waters. Gen. Supt. Whyte is west attending to the difficulty, and Chief Engineer Peterson is present to superintend repairs. There is a steady rise in the Row and it is difficult to state when the waters will abate or how much damage may result.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

A regular meeting of the Moose Jaw School was held on Wednesday. Present: Messrs. W. W. Bole, C. A. Gass and H. Ferguson. On motion W. W. Bole acted as chairman pro tem.

Gass—Ferguson—That debenture No. 1 and accounts of W. W. Bole for $9.00 and E. Simpson & Co. $1.75 be paid. Carried.

The Secretary read a communication from Inspector Calder stating that under present regulations girls under 16 and boys under 18 are not permitted to write for teacher's certificates; but as the examinations are a strong incentive to school work it would be a great pity to see them discarded. Inspector Calder suggested that the school board apply to the Educational department to supply the papers to these pupils and have them examined granting High School certificates to the successful candidates, these certificates showing the pupils' standing but not granting them license to teach.

The chairman instructed the Secretary to hand the above communication to acting Principal Erskine requesting him to take action on the lines suggested by Inspector Calder.

Inspector Rothwell's report was received. On motion the report was ordered to be filed.

The Secretary was instructed to advertise for applications for the position of Principal.

On motion of C. A. Gass seconded by H. Ferguson, acting chairman Bole was authorized to sign cheques in the absence of the chairman.

Gass—Ferguson—That the summer vacation commence July 1st and terminate on August 11th; also that the winter vacation shall be one week commencing Dec. 24th.
